Our Philosophy of Care

At English Rose Suites, our hallmark combination of warm familial environments and highly specialized care holistically supports the unique spiritual, social, psychological, and medical needs of residents through all stages of Alzheimer's disease and dementia.

Superb training and staff longevity is essential to the premier care we provide at our homes located in lovely residential neighborhoods. Our caregivers are meticulously vetted and selected for the warmth and compassionate affection of their characters. Our Pathways for Growth and Learning Mentoring Program develops ongoing, individualized plans to identify formal and informal training opportunities for employees throughout the year to maintain superior quality of care for our residents.

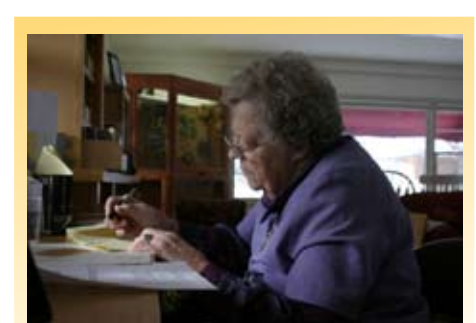

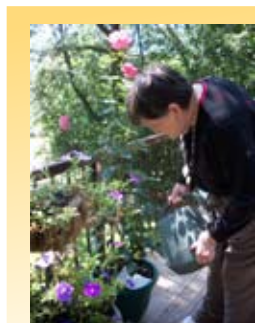

A unique Life Story personal narrative is created for each resident, through interviews with friends and family, capturing the rich individualism of each resident's life in photos, stories, and a biographical history. Our caregivers act as personal guides for residents and their families, designing activities that incorporate resident interests, strengths, and abilities in cherished daily routines. You have peace of mind knowing that your loved ones are cared for by staff who engage in their world, accepting and valuing their lives and celebrating their days with heartfelt tenderness.

Our model for care delivery is distinguished by medical excellence and affectionate personal attention. English Rose Suites employees are trained to respond proactively to the triggers that create behavior/communication needs, and develop dementia-specialty skills in problem solving, supportive communications, and individualized care. Residents flourish under a quality of day-to-day care that is second to none.

The Mission

Changing the landscape of memory care forever...

English Rose Suites homes are exclusively designed to honor personal dignity and quality of life for loved ones living with Alzheimer's disease and other related dementias. In the warmth and safety of intimate residential settings, our staff enriches the daily lives of our residents with loving compassion and expertise in memory care. We consider it a privilege to nurture the intrinsic value of each resident with respectful support and comprehensive care.
